

astrolabio

Luciano Canfora

Gli occhi di Cesare.
La biblioteca latina di Dante

SALERNO EDITRICE · ROMA

pp. 104 | € 8,90

Caesar's eyes. The Latin library of Dante

Who was the Caesar who Dante knew? What the Poet has added to his figure? How do you reconcile the ideal of a certain model of empire with the admiration that Dante reserves to the sworn enemy of Caesar, Cato Uticensis? Entering this intellectual and poetic labyrinth is the goal of this short book, which approaches - not without reason - to a reconsideration of the complex relationship between Dante and the so-called classical world and especially, the great pagan culture.

Luciano Canfora is a professor emeritus at the University of Bari. Great scholar of the classical world, stands out for the exceptional quality of his scientific publications.

New books by great authors of our time, on subjects, figures, moments and aspects of the culture and history

astrolabio

astrolabio

Attilio Ferrari
Donato Pirovano

Dante e le stelle

SALERNO EDITRICE · ROMA

Giuseppe Tognon

La democrazia
del merito

SALERNO EDITRICE · ROMA

astrolabio

Giovanni Polara

Leggere i classici
oggi

SALERNO EDITRICE · ROMA

astrolabio

Carlo Carena

Il fascino del
mito

SALERNO EDITRICE · ROMA

Series directed by Enrico Malato